

Z-Blob's Build Challenge
By Hannah Ho

“This is what Dreamzzz are made of! :)”

Goal: Teach people to value creativity, originality, and playing. Explore different LEGO building techniques while reminding people of the importance of supporting creative themes that may not be the most popular. Promote kindness and curiosity over perfectionism and criticism. Encourage people to buy original sets every once in a while and to build them or donate them. Remind everyone that we are what makes Lego so special 🥰💛.

Activity:

Join Z- Blob and I as we explore creativity by taking this highly customizable set and making it our own :)! I will provide one set to each person at the very beginning. Everyone will then use the pieces of the set to build an original creation without their phones or instructions. We will have a little gallery of our creations, and we will probably take a picture all together. I'll encourage everyone to keep their set or to give it to someone they care about. We will all say goodbye and explore the rest of Brickworld Chicago changed for the better :)!

I'm not exactly sure if there's a formal sign up process with Brickworld Chicago in regards to workshops, but if there's not, I would like to put up a disclaimer that this event can only host 15 people (first come first serve but anyone is welcome). Unfortunately, this set is retiring, and I only have 15 of them 😊.

Event Plan:

~5 minutes of introduction and passing out the set

~30 minutes of building and collaborating

~10 minutes of admiring each other's build in a small set up “gallery”

~5 minutes to take a picture of everyone and their creations and saying goodbye :)

Instructions for participants:

- Be kind
- Curiosity over criticism
- No instructions
- No phones
- 30 minutes of building
- Creativity and collaboration encouraged :)
- Wearing green is encouraged!
- Keep Calm and build on
- Keep Calm and blob on

Recap:

- Build with curiosity over criticism
- Support original LEGO themes by buying set for yourself or donating a set to someone else
- ▷ Lego is nice when displayed but best when it's played with
- ▷ You are what makes Lego wonderful, so build a world you want to see!

Thanks for coming to my workshop! I hope you have a wonderful day! sincerely, Hannah
